

Baino and His Best Friends
Alfredo de Jesus Lopes
Azisa Noor

Baino is a smart kid.

One day, Baino goes to the market with his mother and his best friends.

They go to the market on foot. The market is close to their house.

When they arrive at the market, Baino's mother gives Baino and his friends three dollars.

Hooray!

“What do you want to buy?” Baino asks his friends.

“I want to buy a mango. It is my favorite fruit,” says Abui.

“I want to buy apples,” says Mito.

"Why do you want to buy fruit?" Baino asks Abui and Mitu.

“I want to buy a fruit because it is good for our health,” says Abui.

"That is true. My mother and father also say that fruit can make us smart and can help us grow fast," says Mito.

"Okay, let's go buy fruit," Baino says to his friends. "I want to buy an avocado."

They are happy to buy the fruits that they like.

After the friends finish buying fruit, they wait for Baino's mother to finish shopping too.

They all return home together.

Baino invites his friends to stay and eat together the fruit they bought at the market.

When they finish eating, they play with the fruit peels. They have fun and laugh together.

Brought to you by

The Asia Foundation

Let's Read is a program of The Asia Foundation that supports early reading skills and habits to develop our next generation of critical thinkers and creative innovators in Asia and the Pacific.

To read more books like this and get further information, visit: letsreadasia.org

Original Story

Baino and His Best Friends. Author: Alfredo de Jesus Lopes.

Illustrator: Azisa Noor. Editor: EorG.

Published by The Asia Foundation - Let's Read, © The Asia Foundation - Let's Read. Released under CC-BY-NC-4.0.

This work is a modified version of the original story. @ The Asia Foundation, 2022. Some rights reserved. Released under CC-BY-NC-4.0.

For full terms of use and attribution,
<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/>

Contributing translators: Jody Roy